

Introducing IQue CR

The newest member of your
imaging staff

The world's first self-learning CR system

Introducing IQue, the latest CR innovation from Konica Minolta. IQue is an intelligent, yet simple to use CR system that automatically recognizes each exam view and applies the processing algorithms appropriate for that image. IQue has a self-learning capability that routinely adjusts images to a user's preference. Even technologists with no prior CR experience can generate optimized diagnostic images.

Best of all, your busy imaging center or clinic will see added productivity and superior image quality, day after day. So just point and go... and leave the thinking to IQue!

KONICA MINOLTA

The essentials of imaging